ZNAK Baltic Contemporary Art wallpaper collection

The ZNAK “Baltic Contemporary Art” wallpaper collection was born out of an idea to infuse the ideas and concepts of contemporary artists into interior design.

The designs in the collection were made in collaboration with six contemporary artists from the Baltic States, who work in various fields of contemporary art, including painting, conceptual art, fashion design, and video.

Each design in the ZNAK “Baltic Contemporary Art” wallpaper collection has its own concept and tells a different story – it is real art in the interior.

KRISS SALMANIS Robots Don't Feel

Wallpaper idea

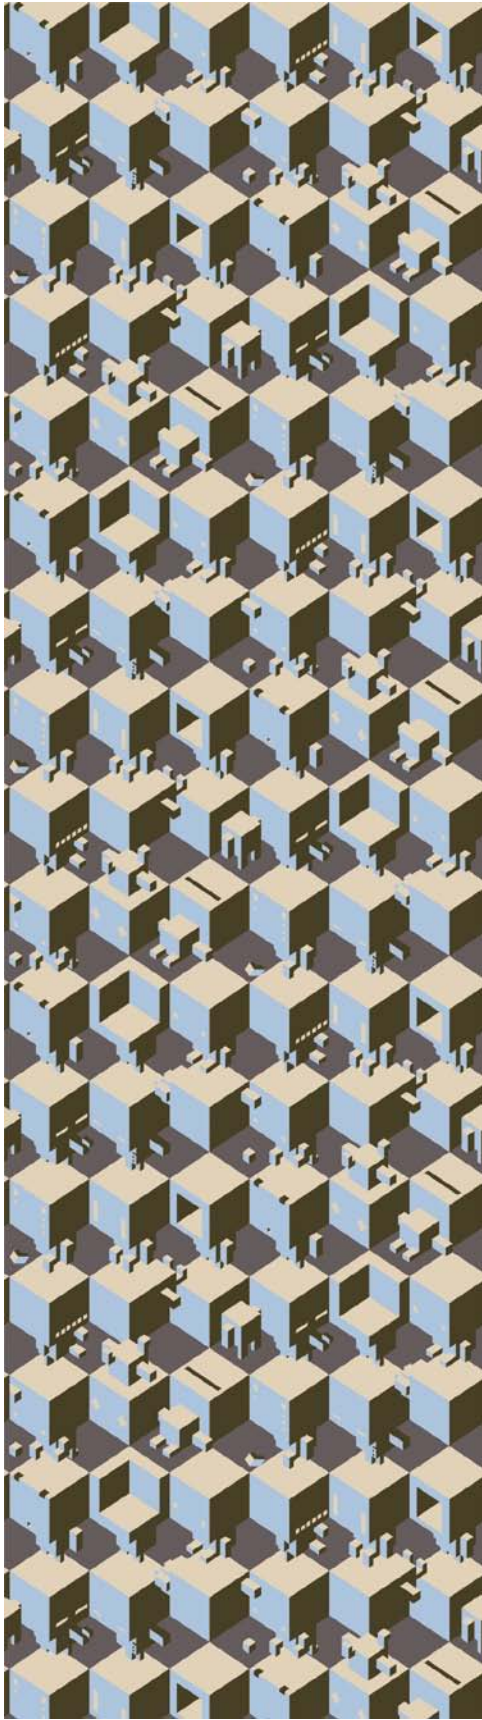

Art for intellectuals; graphic design for gourmands. When examined closely, the regular geometric forms suddenly turn into a swarm of robots! Robots stand on their heads, laugh, cry, and relax, literally bringing your wall to life. Salmanis transforms a static plane into an exciting work of animation, where you'll find something new – new stories and new emotions – every time you look! His design will make you ponder what is real and what isn't. But can robots drawn on a wall really show emotions? Robots don't have feelings! (Or do they...?)

MAIJA KURSEVA Street Through Your Living Room

Wallpaper idea

Art for rebels – with or without a cause. After moving from the streets of Riga to your home, Kurseva’s “creatures” will create a unique, rebellious, and decorative atmosphere in your living space.

ARTURAS BUMSTEINAS Lecter's Room

Wallpaper idea

Art for those who value ideas above all else. Lecter's Room is a conceptual work of art that has suddenly assumed a decorative form. Five films about Hannibal Lecter, including the Oscar-winning The Silence of the Lambs, will create an interactive environment that will engage every person who enters the space.

Wallpaper Nr. 1 Red Dragons

This is a design based on Francis Dolarhyde's "Red Dragon" tattoo. It was redrawn from memory, and I tried to add more human shape to the image. The design appears quite similar to the red dragon depicted by William Blake. Where is the similarity?

Wallpaper Nr. 2 Lecter's Masks

This design is based on Hannibal Lecter's masks, which I drew while watching the Lecter films.

Wallpaper Nr. 3 Catherine's Last Ride

The design features a series of 24 video stills from the movie The Silence of the Lambs. The stills were converted into ASCII format and subtitled with the lyrics sung by Catherine Martin during the scene where she is on her way straight into the hands of the serial killer "Buffalo Bill".

ANDRIS VITOLINS Flying Soul of the Electric Train

Wallpaper idea

Art for the children of the industrial age. This design will help your space preserve the lyricism of the industrial century – which is disappearing, quickly and almost imperceptibly, from our urban and rural landscapes.

Technical information about wallpaper material

The artists' designs are printed on high- quality DPX465 wallpaper material. DPX465 is a fleece material made of a stable textile-and-cellulose tissue that does not expand upon contact with moisture, and may be pasted without soaking or waiting. DPX465 fleece wallpaper is durable and wrinkle-free. The material may be cleaned, and is resistant to the effects of UV rays.

The wallpaper is very easy to use, as the paste is applied directly to the wall, not to the back of the wallpaper. The roll remains dry, allowing for more convenient handling, and is cut-to-fit for each wall.

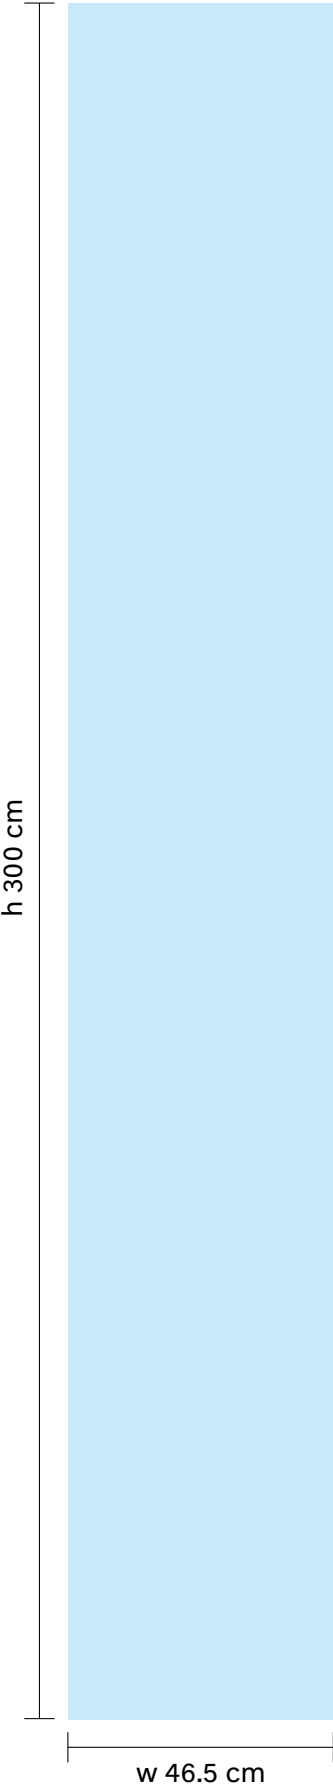

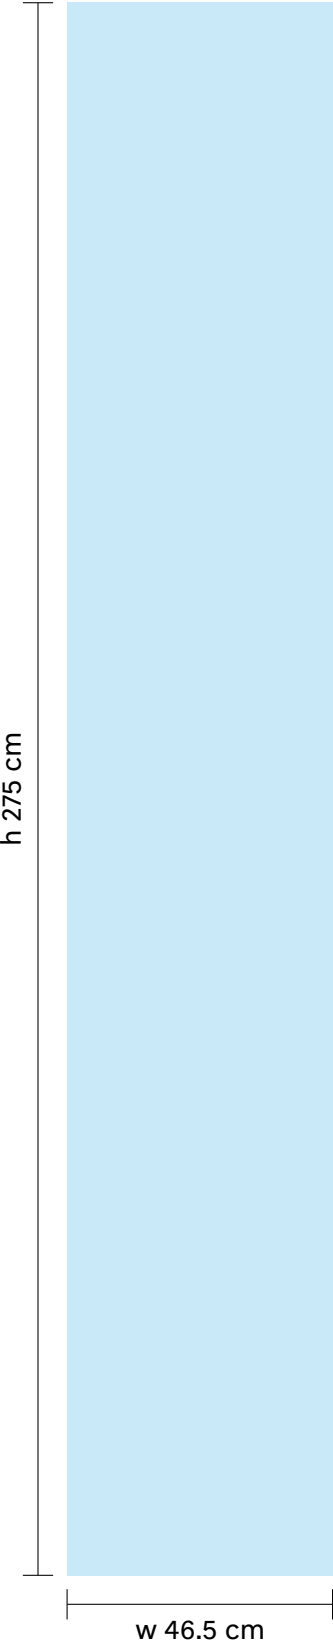

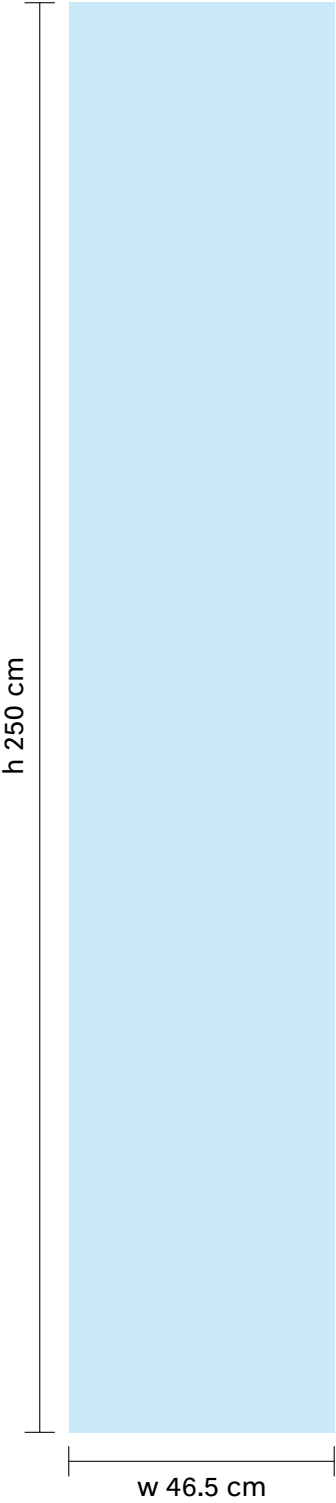

Unlike synthetic materials, DPX465 fleece wall- paper is a convenient, ecologically safe, and breathable material with an air permeability that conforms to DIN 52615. The material is in full compliance with EU construction norms. As the material is non-flammable, and accords with DIN 4102 B1, the wallpaper may be used in the interior of public spaces. If the appropriate glue is used during application, the wallpaper may be removed from the wall and reapplied in the same place or elsewhere.
